

2024 Season

Internship opportunity at Viña Concha y Toro

We are looking for interns to be part of our team for the 2024 season in Maule Valley, Chile. Applicants must be graduate or undergraduate students of MSc or PhD programs on Engineering, Biotechnology, Oenology and Viticulture, Agriculture Sciences, Food Sciences or similar, intended to work in a research project with us. Applicants will work in the vineyards, winery and/or laboratory.

We are currently involved in several research lines.

- Vineyard water use determination and water stress management.
- Vineyard design, soil and geology and their impact on grapevine chemical composition
- Field molecular monitoring systems for grapevine trunk diseases
- Soil carbon sequestration and regenerative agriculture
- Vineyard nutrition

These projects have the opportunity to be worked as thesis in collaboration with your University. We are currently in association with several Universities in Chile and abroad. So just check out if your University allows working abroad in a thesis in the industry.
